ReportsNow™ for J.D. Edwards Reporting

The Issue: Difficult and time-consuming reporting tools

J.D. Edwards makes it easy to get data into the system. Getting data out is another matter. Numerous reporting solutions exist to bridge this gap, but most require the business user to have an unreasonable amount of technical knowledge. Faced with this dilemma, business users must either wait for the IT organization to write reports for them or use “brute force” to piece the data they need manually.

The Solution: On-Demand Reporting™ by ReportsNow

ReportsNow, an Oracle Certified Partner, provides a better reporting alternative for the J.D. Edwards business user. The On-Demand Reporting system allows the business user to design their own reports without having to resort to the IT department. Business users design a report with a highly visual designer that shows how the report will look with data each step of the way. Users find the ReportsNow solution so intuitive that they are up and creating reports within one to two hours of online training.

In Summary

By providing breakthrough design simplicity, On-Demand Reporting by ReportsNow lets the business user create reports that previously would not have been possible. With this new agility, businesses can adapt faster and more economically to the challenges they face.
